German Christmas Markets

Germany is famous for its Christmas Markets.

Until recently, German people used to wait until the Christmas markets opened, at the end of November, and bought all of their Christmas presents during December.

Christmas Markets bring the magic of Christmas alive with their festive music, twinkling lights and delicious smells and tastes of Christmas.

At the Christmas markets, you can drink mulled wine, eat sugared waffles and donuts as well as festive treats such as: Lebkuchen and Stollen.
